House Ways & Means Recommends Level Funding!

We're thrilled to report that the House Ways & Means Committee recommended level funding of $9.5 million for MLAC's line item (0321-1600) in FY12. The full House is expected to adopt the recommendation tomorrow, and then we'll turn our attention to the Senate. Walk to the Hill a Success Despite Weather Woes

For the first time in its 12-year history, Walk to the Hill got snowed out on February 2. It was rescheduled for February 22, and even though Chief Justice Ireland was not able to attend, Justice Ralph Gants delivered inspiring remarks to kick off the speaking program.

More than 500 attorneys from 45 firm "teams" participated this year, including 17 managing partners. The winners of our annual highest attendance awards are:

- 1st Place: Ropes & Gray - 42 attorneys
- 2nd Place: WilmerHale - 41 attorneys
- 3rd Place: Nutter McClennen & Fish- 25 attorneys
- Nancy King Award (for the highest percentage of firm participation): Robins, Kaplan, Miller & Ciresi - 7 out of 15 attorneys. This was the firm's first year participating!

And as always, we greatly appreciated the program staff who volunteered to help with registration and directing participants. Thank you!

Mass. Law Reform Institute (MLRI) Names New Executive Director

Georgia Katsoulomitis joined MLRI on March 1 as its new executive director. She comes to MLRI with significant leadership experience, a deep understanding of antipoverty strategies and a passion for social justice. She most recently served as managing director of the Boston Bar Foundation, the philanthropic arm of the Boston Bar Association, and as a consultant to numerous non-profit organizations on management, communications and development.

"I am honored to be part of the Massachusetts legal services community and to have the opportunity to lead this exceptional organization and staff. I am committed to building upon MLRI's legacy of effective and fearless advocacy on behalf of low-income and underserved populations," she said.

Her immediate priority is to ensure that MLRI has the resources to maintain, and expand, its systemic reform initiatives and that it remains responsive to the state's legal service field programs and other community partners who rely on MLRI for its specialized expertise and support services.

MLRI Advocate Honored for Anti-Hunger Work

Patricia Baker, MLRI policy analyst, received The Dr. Raymond Wheeler / Senator Paul Wellstone Anti-Hunger Advocacy Leadership Award, presented by the national Food Research Action Center at its annual conference in Washington, D.C. in March. The award was given to Pat in recognition of her central role in fighting hunger through public policy.

Several legal aid attorneys will be honored as part of the MBA Centennial Conference. The Annual Access to Justice Awards Luncheon will take place on Wednesday, May 18, from 12:30 to 2 p.m. at the Boston Sheraton Hotel.

Linda Landry of Disability Law Center of Massachusetts and Dan Manning of Greater Boston Legal Services (GBLS) will receive the Legal Services Award, which is given to "a public or nonprofit agency attorney who contributes to the provision of low-income legal services beyond his or her required job responsibilities."

Eleanor Newhoff, a volunteer attorney in the GBLS Immigration Law Unit, will receive the Pro Bono Publico Award, which is given to "an individual who has been instrumental in developing, implementing and supporting pro bono programs for the MBA, a local bar association, law firm or agency."

In Memorium: Barbara Olin, Fiscal Officer, Merrimack Valley - North Shore Legal Services (MVNS)

Barbara, who worked for MVNS for the past 37 years, died unexpectedly on March 28. Barbara was famous for her dedication to duty and for her acerbic wit. To the end, she was a perfectionist: the auditors arrived the day following her death to begin the annual audit and found her corporate records aligned in immaculate order ready to go, her final gift to MVNS.

Advocacy Update

The Center for Law and Education (CLE)

One of the amicus briefs CLE filed this winter was before the U.S. Supreme Court. In Camreta v. Greene, CLE argued against expanding the scope of the school-based "special needs" exception to the Fourth Amendment's search and seizure requirements by allowing law enforcement officers and CPS workers in a non-emergency situation to bypass traditional Fourth Amendment protections when they conduct custodial police/CPS investigations in schools.

Greater Boston Legal Services (GBLS)

More than four years ago, GBLS attorneys Dan Bartley, Wynn Gerhard and Alex Mitchell-Munevar, along with the National Consumer Law Center, MLRI, and other groups, began working to pass legislation to increase protections for low-income debtors. GBLS staff's efforts included investigating the impact on low-income debtors of the property exemption law then on the books; drafting, re-drafting, and filing proposed legislation; providing testimony before the judicial legislative committee; and meeting with individual legislators to obtain support. Alex added a section to the bill that ultimately passed, focusing on protections for elders and the disabled. The bill, filed by Sen. Pat Jehlen, passed at the end of December 2010. Gov. Patrick signed it into law in January 2011.

Mass. Law Reform Institute (MLRI)

In December 2010, MLRI filed litigation in U.S. District Court against a private background screening company for disseminating inaccurate criminal history in violation of the Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act.

In November 2010, MLRI, on behalf of Mass. Coalition for the Homeless and several individual plaintiffs, sued the Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), alleging that DHCD was violating the law by not having fair and duly promulgated rules governing the Emergency Assistance "Flex Funds" program, through which the agency is spending approximately $30 million of EA funds in FY11 on short-term subsidies for otherwise homeless families. Read more here.

Last fall, MLRI issued a report, "A Bridge to Where?," calling for the state to evaluate its over-reliance on short-term housing subsidies to address homelessness. Over the past two years, thousands of families have been placed in private market housing with 12-month subsidies. The temporary subsidies were meant to be a "bridge to permanent housing," but for most the goal of permanent housing is not realized.
